Practical Exercises

In the main notebook we have completed some of the operations and there can be some more practice exercises. Please find the additions that you can do in the attached example in the main notebook

There are various additions that you can try to do in this example:

1. See how you can create a filter to fetch users that match a certain criteria. Can you find all the users who are admins?
2. 2. You'll also notice that there is no validation in terms of the user creation. Multiple accounts can be created for the same address. How would you add a check so that if a new user creation is requested for an address that already has a user, you can raise an error?
